BUSINESS CHALLENGE

When COVID-19 first began to make its way through the U.S., Renzulli Learning started seeing signs of impact almost immediately.

As a result of the nationwide Spring school closures due to the pandemic, Renzulli Learning had 20x the normal users in March and in April of 2020 alone. That was only the beginning.

In addition to the immediate boom in users, The Houston Independent School District (ISD), now one of Renzulli's top clients, was anticipating about 30,000 students would need to upload projects (including 5-minute videos) that they were completing from home during the height of the crisis. They reached out to Renzulli for help.

With a tight deadline to meet for The Houston ISD, Renzulli needed a partner they could depend on to quickly deliver scalable, secure infrastructure for the unpredictable times ahead and the tens of thousands of students learning remotely.
